The Rise of Totalitarianism Section 2

Postwar Issues
Country	Politics	Foreign Policy	Economics
Britain	Conservative party dominated; Irish Free State established in 1922.	Sought to soften the treatment of Germany; worked with other nations toward peace	Struggled with unemployment and labor unrest; owed debt to the United States
France	Ruled by a series of coalition governments	Insisted on enforcement of Versailles treaty; built Maginot Line; worked with other nations for peace	Recovered more quickly than Britain; helped by reparations and territories from Germany; owed debt to United States
United States	"Red Scare" led to immigration limits and expelled radicals.	Worked with other nations for peace	Became leading economic power
